The business at the Cu-tom House on Friday and yes ereay was no better than it had been any day during the week—in fact it was decidedly worse, if such a caumity could be. It is useless to make further comments upon this fact, for it is just able to all that such atsgnation will continue while the tariff is in force. If any remark be made by a nerchant at the Custom House upon the state of af-fairs, interested parties will exultingly say, "The re-ceipts at the Tressury are much larger than during the corresponding period of last year," viz.—from April 1 to April 12. Allowing this to be the case, it does not alter the fact that there is a stagnation in business. The receipts have mainly been derived from goods withdrawn from the war-houses under the new tariff at a lower rate of duty than by the set of 1867. Now, that these goods are near-tail withdrawn, let the receipts from april to april 20 be compared with the corresponding period of last sear, and what will be the result? A fearful, distressing

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, April 13-6 P. M. The announcement that hostilities had actually broken out at Charleston startled the public this morning; but there was no paule. Stocks fell, with the exception of governments, which were very firmly held; but people generally seemed to ac cept the fact as an event which had long been inevitable, and as a not unwelcome termination to a period of intolerable suspense. Nothing was done in money or exchange. The war was the sole topic of conversation in every circle.

At the Stock Exchange this morning a moderate business was done. The border States led off the decline by falling-Missouris, 2; Virginias, 2; Tennessees, ½ per cent. The general speculative list had sold very low before the Board. At the Board Pacine was declined 3½, as compared with the last quotation of last evening; New York Central, 1½; Erie, 2½; Budson, 2½; Harlem preferred. 1%; Reading, 2¾; Michigan Central, 2; guaranteed, ¾; Illinois Central, 2; Galena, ¾; Toledo, 1; Rock Island, ¾. After the Board the market was steady. In the afternoon the market was quiet, without much business. At the close dulness prevailed.
